Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Reading the other day where a fellow wanted to know what happened to the old fashioned girl. He was told they were all at home with their first husbands.

Anybody who thinks the Southeastern Conference teams are inferior to the Big Ten, Big Eight, Southwest or what have you, can think a little now. Alabama and LSU won their bowl games and Florida could have if they had just kicked for extra points instead of trying for two.

New Year's festivities will not be over until the ladies get the confetti out of their hair.

The Forsythia is budding and the January Jasmine will soon. Both are yellow and are the first to bloom in the year. The Crocus is right along with them.

Then our old buddy the Jonquil blooms about March, along with the Hyacinth.

The days are already getting longer and March will be here soon.

The only sobering thought is that we have not had much winter yet and what we get will come in the next two months.

Kids of all ages are back in school this week.

Max Beale is building himself a car part.

Half off to the ladies! We noted during the holidays had passed that they seemed better than ever. All decked out in their finest, they all presented a fetching picture.

We can all get back on the beam now that a new year is underway. For many folks the next holiday is July Fourth and that's a far piece off.

Thank goodness that a good part the last box of chocolate covered cherries is disappearing and the fruit cake too.

Ironworkers Draw a Brawl Wage of $4.25 an Hour, plus a 10-cent health and welfare payment and a 10-cent pension payment.

The AGC of Southern Illinois has offered the union a 62-cent package, which the union has also rejected.

Strike Halts Work On College Jobs

Construction projects at Murray State College were affected today by the strike of the Ironworkers Union No. 781. Pickets were seen this morning at the construction sites.

The strike is affecting major construction projects in Western Kentucky and Southern Illinois as union representatives remained adamant in their rejection of a proposed 30 day postponement of a strike.

Only about 100 iron workers are directly affected, but the picket lines are bringing the jobs to a standstill. Associated General Contractors Friday requested the postponement in order to allow a federal mediator to meet with representatives of AGC and the union after contract negotiations broke down.

Negotiations for a new three-year contract since Oct. 8 have narrowed a wide gap between the AGC offer and the union demand, but the two are still apart by 22 cents an hour.

The union's original demand would have meant raises and fringe benefits over the three-year life of the contract totaling $1.28 an hour. The original AGC offer was a five-cent hourly raise for each of the next three years.

In subsequent bargaining the union has trimmed its demands to $1.00 an hour in wage increase and fringe benefits over the next three years, and the AGC has gone up to 35 cents.

Ironworkers draw a brawl wage of $4.25 an hour, plus a 10-cent health and welfare payment and a 10-cent pension payment.

The AGC of Southern Illinois has offered the union a 62-cent package, which the union has also rejected.

It's because they sense what is a fact, that southern communities view violence with abhorrence."

MOBILE, Ala. — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach warn-

A Bible Thought For Today

But this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark. — Philippians 3:13, 14.

Time is a treasure. How shall we use it? We can make of

Today is Monday, Jan. 3, the third day of 1966 with 362 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born today are under the sign of Capricorn. Double Comendian and planet Victor Borg was born on this day in 1908.

On this day in history:

In 1771, troops led by George Washington defeated three British regiments at the battle of Princeton, N.J.

In 1938, the March of Dimes campaign to fight infantile paralysis was organized.

In 1861, the United States severed diplomatic relations with Cuba.

In 1953, actors Dick Powell and Jack Carson died of cancer.

A thought for the day: President George Washington said: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

Marriages Fail Because Girls Not Trained As Person

CHICAGO 878 — Many American marriages are failures because girls are trained to be "sex symbols" and not much else, a divorce court psychologist said today.

"Our young girls think if they know how to apply lipstick, wear a sugar bra and have the right-shaped hips, that's all they have to know," Dr. I. A. Burch said.

Consequently, when a marriage gets into trouble, women have little to fall back on except sex appeal and divorce usually results, he said.

Burch is director of the Divorce
Conciliation Service for the Illinois
Circuit Court branch in Cook County. He said in an interview the divorce rate is going up.

The 1954 Cook County total, including Chicago, was 17,266. At the same time, divorces involved about one of every three American families.
Now it's closer to 40 per cent.

"If a girl thinks she's today's sex symbol, she just increases her number of dates. She figures if she can get a husband, who needs algebra?"

Burch said it is "inevitable" in American society that men eventually fall or run into trouble.

"Women then become terrified,
they become more demanding.
When her husband needs her most,
she fails," Burch said.

Burch said girls must be taught to "develop themselves as persons.
Instead of sex education in the schools, we should teach it person education."

"Dr." Thomas E. Miyawaki Really Looked Like Doctor

SAN FRANCISCO 878 — The credentials of "Dr." Thomas E.
Miyawaki appeared impeccable. So for 15 months he taught anatomy at the University of California Medical Center and even earned a promotion.

But, embarrassed officials revealed Tuesday, Miyawaki not only wasn't a doctor, but was an undergraduate dropout from Loyola University in Los Angeles.

University officials hastened to emphasize, however, that in his position he was an associate in anatomy Miyawaki did not treat patients or assume any of the duties of a physician.

The fraud was uncovered last week when Miyawaki performed poorly on an oral Ph.D. examination. Assailed that "doctors" lack of medical knowledge, an investigation was launched.

But Miyawaki, a 30-year-old Japanese, whose parents live in Marietta, was "apparently competent"
in his work of conducting laboratory courses for groups of five or six students, Dean Harold Harper

How Diabetics Lead Normal Lives

By Glen W. McDonald, M.D.

In a surprising number of cases, recent research has turned up evidence that diabetes has close links with heart disease, high blood pressure, gout, and a variety of other ailments.

Whether diabetes is a "cause" or an "effect" in these patients is a question research must settle. Either way, early testing for diabetes is urgent for anyone who has one symptom of the associated disease, even if no symptoms of diabetes have appeared.

The best known symptom is excessive sugar in the blood and the urine—a result of the body's inability to transform certain foods into energy.

Contrary to popular belief, however, diabetes may be present long before this "or" and older classic symptoms develop. So-called complications—diseases of the blood vessels, the kidney, skin and feet abnormalities of pregnancy—may be warning signs that diabetes is present.

An editorial in a medical journal
recently pointed to the importance of diabetes in relation to atherosclerotic (is form of hardening of the arteries). These conditions are often so closely linked that many patients with atherosclerosis (chest pains) or other vascular diseases should be given blood sugar tests or glucosesugar-tolerance tests to investigate possible diabetes. This is advisable even though no excess sugar is found in the urine under any circumstances.

The obvious signs of diabetes—unquenchable thirst, fatigue, excessive urination—are easy to detect.
In many cases easy to detect.

During Diabetes Week each year,
the search for the estimated two million undetected diabetics in this country is stressed. Special emphasis must be placed on "high-risk" population groups, including patients with any sort of heart-circulatory disease.

Pregnant women are another "high-risk" group. If an infant is stillborn or dies soon after birth, if it weighs 9 pounds or more at birth, or if it is abnormal in any way, the mother should immediately be suspected as a possible dia-abetic and given appropriate tests.
Many doctors now give these tests routinely during all pregnancies.

Some researchers point the finger at high levels of triglycerides—special kind of fat—in the blood as a possible clue to the complex interrelation between diabetes and other diseases.

All of these conditions seem to have excessive triglycerides as a common denominator.

Does this mean that diabetes, instead of being a separate disease, actually is a complication stemming from the body's failure to assimilate triglycerides?

When research has the answer to this and other related questions,
we will be closer to that elusive
"cure" for diabetes.

Packers Win NFL Title Sunday

By ED SAINSBURY

UPI Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers put the title back in Titletown, U. S. A., thanks to two battered backs, Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung.

The aching and crippled veterans crashed for 201 yards of the 204 the Packers gained on the ground to make ball control work as Green Bay pounded out their 23-12 triumph over the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League's championship game Sunday.

But it wasn't just their yardage that made Taylor and Hornung great. It was when and how they got it.

The Browns, champions of the NFL Eastern Division with an 11-3 season record, trailed by only one point at halftime, 13-12, and that was because of a fumble on the snap from center on a Lou Groza point after touchdown try. Nothing had really been decided in the first half.

The Packers scored the first time they had the ball in the second half. Taylor carried the ball five times and Hornung four on a 90-yard march which ended with Hornung stepping for a touchdown from the 13-yard line.

Barst, another battered veteran of the Packers, threw only two passes during the drive, for 12 yards to Boyd Dowler and for 10 to Taylor.

Taylor, Hornung and Starr repeated the formula when Green Bay next had the ball. Starr connected for 13 yards and to Dowler for 18 and Taylor and Hornung did the heavy work through the line to move to the Browns' 21.

That was the cue for Don Chandler to kick his third field goal of the game, tying a league playoff record from the 29 for the final point.

Taylor, who was awarded a sports car as the outstanding performer in the game, earned 99 yards on 37 carries and Hornung had 106 in 16 attempts. Compared to other performances, all-league fullback Jimmy Brown of Cleveland picked up just 50 yards on 13 attempts.

The outstanding performance of the Packers' backs made coach Vince Lombardi's ball control game plan work perfectly. Green Bay ran 69 plays against 39 for the Browns and Cleveland had only 16 plays in the second half.

title, the sixth since inter-divisional playoffs began in 1933, and the third for the Packers in the last five years.

Bowl Results Were Big Surprise To Grid Fans

By United Press International

Millions of football fans still aren't sure today whether the morning after wasn't wilder than the night before.

After celebrating into the wee hours of New Year's Day, countless armchair quarterbacks collapsed before their television sets to watch the traditional bowl games. And like the night before, the results were staggering.

The nation's top three teams lost, being hand their first defeats after rolling up 10-0 records in 1965. UCLA whipped national champion Michigan State 14-12 in the Rose Bowl. Louisiana State stopped Arkansas No. 2, 14-7 in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama blasted third-ranked Nebraska 39-28 in the Orange Bowl.

"The greatest mismatch of the century," the UCLA players yelled after averaging an early-season loss to Michigan State.

The Bruins took advantage of a Michigan State fumble and an intercepted pass to score a pair of first-half touchdowns. The Spartans rallied for two TDs after intermission, but the Bruins thwarted both attempts by Michigan State for two-point conversions.

Little Joe Labruzzo, the smallest man on the field, carried the ball six consecutive times on an LSU touchdown march, scored the TD and added another to help stop Arkansas' 22-game winning streak.

Bill Bass anchored the tough LSU defensive unit which held the Razorbacks scoreless after intermission.

Alabama quarterback Steve Egan, called "the greatest" by many set an Orange Bowl record by completing 20 passes in 29 attempts for 266 yards. Steve Bowman scored twice for the Crimson Tide, who dropped only one game during the regular season.

Dear Abby . . . It's Dynamite, Lady!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a 15-year-old son who is a good boy, an honor student and has many friends. One young couple this age come here several nights a week and use my parlor for a lover's lane. These kids sit in the back, hugging and kissing for hours. I am sure their parents don't know that this goes on. Once I heard the girl tell her mother on the phone that she was at a party with a "bunch of kids" at my son's house. (No one was here but her and her boy friend, and my son, who stayed upstairs studying most of the time.) I am a widow and an invited out occasionally, but I don't like to have these kids alone in my house. What should I do, Abby? Tell my son to ask his friends not to come over any more? Or should I tell them, I? Should their parents be told?

DEAR UNDECIDED: If you refuse the kids the use of your parlor, you'll only force them to find another rendezvous. Here is an excellent opportunity to help two youngsters who are desperately in need of a place to go. They are blaring with dynamite and need to be warned against the dangers of too much togetherness charged up with natural emotions. If you can't (or won't) counsel these kids, then you'd be doing them a favor by telling their parents. Enlightenment is in order here, not punishment.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who plans to remarry in March. I have two teen-age sons who will keep their father's name as I feel they are too old to be legally adopted by my new husband and thereby take his name as I will. It always seems so strange to me when children do not have the same name as their mother. Would it be proper for me to keep my children's father's name (say it was Brown) and then add my new husband's name (say it was Smith)? I would then be Mrs. Brown-Smith, and therefore, have something in common with my children's name.

DEAR NAME: No, it is not proper for you to keep your first husband's name, even though your children will retain it.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please permit me to sound off about a matter that is becoming increasingly disgusting? Tight pants for boys and men! It was bad enough when women started peeing those stretch things over their posterior, revealing every curve. But these tight pants for men are the limit. To add to the problem, the cuffs are so narrow that they can't get the pants up or off without taking them down. The days of buying a growing boy a pair of trousers with a little room for him to "grow into them" has passed. When they buy pants brand new, they are so tight-fitting that the kid gains six ounces he can't get the pants back on with a crow bar. I won't even mention how terrible I think they LOOK. Am I alone?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FEELING GUINNY" IN PROX: You are foolishly living with guilt because of ignorance and misinformation. What you don't know about how to live a normal, satisfying married life not only could fill a book, but I have a recommendation. J. B. Trainers' PHYSIOLOGIC FOUNDATIONS FOR MARRIAGE COUNSELING. Every person who is considering marriage, or who is now married, should read this book.

ADA ADVICE

WASHINGTON ADVISE - The American Society for Democratic Action (ADA) wants President Johnson to stay away from domestic spending in order to meet the expanded cost of the war in Viet Nam.

Three vice chairmen of the group told Johnson in a letter Thursday it would be better to repeal recent tax reductions than to "steer the long overdue and most hopeful programs that you have initiated for the welfare of our country."

Helping Hand from March of Dimes Makes Little Girl's Tasks Easier

How to get out of drying dishes is an art most little girls try to perfect early in life.

But one little Baltimore girl has worked very hard for the "privilege" of helping mommy in the kitchen.

Indeed, any chore that requires the use of two hands is a delight for five-year-old Linda Whitecotton, who had only one until last year.

The little blonde beauty is a congenital amputee. She has no right hand, only useless, knuckle-like bumps at the wrist. She does have a good left hand and as a toddler, learned to use it with double-duty dexterity.

But because both hands are needed for so many things like dressing dolls or drying dishes, the simplest activity often became a frustrating trial for Linda.

She'd work so hard to make one hand do the work of two, it was sometimes heart-breaking to watch," says her mother, Joan Whitecotton.

Because Robert Whitecotton, her father, was in military service when Linda was an infant, the family moved often. Wherever they sought help for Linda, they found themselves involved in unending debate about the advisability of providing her with an artificial hand.

"We couldn't get any agreement as to whether she should be fitted with a prosthetic device early or when she was older; or whether she should have a hook, which would be efficient, or a 'cosmetic' hand which would look natural but might not work as well," Mr. Whitecotton recalls.

It was not until the family settled in Baltimore in 1964 that the parents learned of the March of Dimes program to help children with birth defects. A friend advised the father to contact the Baltimore County Chapter of the voluntary birth organization. Within a short time, Linda was wearing a remarkably workable hand, gloved with lifelike, flesh-toned plastic.

By moving her shoulder muscles under the device which activate the hand, the determined little girl can make her "new" fingers pick up, hold and release objects of almost any size. Naturally, right-handed, she has learned, with the help of occupational therapists on the March of Dimes center, Linda might still be struggling along with just one hand.

$184 Would Be Your Share Of All Money, But $316 Is Share Of Installment Debts

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter

WASHINGTON 279 — If all the money in circulation in the United States were divided equally, each of us would have $184. But if all the money owed on installment debts were divided equally, each of us would be stuck for $316.

Money and how to use it is a dark mystery to most Americans. Anybody can be excused for not understanding the details of national and international finances—the future over the Federal Reserve Board, raising the discount rate, the balance of payments problem. Nobody should be expected to be able to explain why the federal government can keep going when it spends more than it takes in, whereas if a single family does that the end of the road is disaster.

But the hard and dismal fact is that millions of Americans plunge themselves into tragedy because the rudiments of money management. Or they may understand it, but choose to ignore it.

Based On Faith

The American money system, like almost all others in the world, is based on faith. The money that we pull back and forth to one another is nowhere near as valuable as it purports to be. The federal government manufactures 145 pennies out of 30 cents worth of alloy; 40 cents in silver will produce 90 nickels, or $4.60. The material used in printing 1,000 bills—no matter what the denomination—costs about 30 cents.

Our faith is put in people who sign their names to pieces of paper. The signature of Secretary of Treasury Henry H. Fowler in the lower right hand corner of a green piece of paper convinces us that a dollar bill is worth 100 cents. The boss puts his name on a piece of paper and that is your salary for a week of a month. You, in turn, put your name on a piece of paper and pay your department store bills. If this faith in names on paper ever broke down, there would be no more of all the business transactions in the United States.

Most Americans stuff money into their wallets without counting it.

or even looking at it. One result of this is that the U. S. Secret Service recovers about $600,000 each year in counterfeit money that has been accepted by careless people. You have no recourse or possibility of recovery if somebody palms off a counterfeit bill on you. And yet, counterfeit money is easy to spot—the saw tooth points around the seal are uneven or broken and the serial numbers are likely to be badly spaced or uneven in height.

Poverty Of Plenty

Millions of American families live in what has been called a "poverty of plenty," meaning that they have lots of material possessions but almost no savings. They live from one week's paycheck to another and the missing of one week's pay throws their entire economic lives out of balance. After taxes are paid, this is the way a typical career American consumer disposes of a dollar:

Food	22.4
Apparel and its upkeep	10.6
Transportation	13.8
Health and recreation	19.4
Miscellaneous	36

The significant thing is that nothing has been allowed for savings unless he is saving the 38 cents listed as miscellaneous. But obviously he is living well driving an automobile, going to ball games and not worrying at all about what tomorrow will bring.

Needs $123 Weekly

How much money does a family of four actually need to live on? Here we step into one of the hottest arguments about our national economy and welfare, and there is no definitive answer to the question. Last spring the AFL-CIO stated that the head of a family of four needs a minimum weekly income of $123, a figure that leaves nothing for luxuries or savings. To achieve that, according to the APY-CIO, the wage earner must bring in $2.07 an hour, whereas at the start of this year the straight-time earnings of the average worker was $2.58 an hour.

The $123 weekly wage allowed one egg per person a day, one suit every two years for the wage earner and 2.5 dresses a year for his wife. But the figure has been challenged.

lenced on the grounds that in many four-person families there are more than one wage earner, so the controversy rolls on.

Brink of Disaster

What is beyond dispute is that here in the midst of the most prosperous economy in the history of the world, there are pockets of people who live on the brink of financial disaster. They have jobs, they enjoy life, but they cannot manage their own money. There is no use in trying to blame it on the federal government, the state government, Democrats, Republicans or Communists. It is human nature and it has been going on for centuries. Long ago, Samuel Pepys noted in his diary: "This morning came my fine camelot cloak, with gold buttons, and a silk suit which cost me much money, and I pray God to make me able to pay for it."

Next, installment buying, the thing that grows the machinery.

WASHINGTON 279 — The odds will be heavily in your favor if you bet somebody he cannot name the persons whose pictures appear on bills of $1,000, $5,000 and $100,000 denominations.

Answer: Grover Cleveland, James Madison and Woodrow Wilson.

LEPROSY VACCINE TRIED

LONDON 279 — A vaccine which may prove to be a leprosy breakthrough has been 80 per cent successful in a five year test in Uganda, the British Medical Journal said Friday.

The journal said, however, another five year test was necessary. The test was carried out among 16,000 children whose relatives were either lepers or who had contact with lepers.

U.S. TENOR SIGNED

VIENNA 279 — American tenor Jess Thomas, a favorite with local opera fans for his performance in Wagner's "Lohengrin," has signed a contract with the Vienna State Opera for the next three seasons, it was announced Friday.

2—Wood checks with a Special Forces camp on flight.

3—Wood scans the Mekong Delta region for Viet Cong signs.

4—"Birdogging" the Viet Cong—These photos illustrate work of the U.S. Air Force's Forward Air Controllers (FAC) in South Viet Nam. They are the light planes that fly regular routes two or three times a day over Viet Cong-infested territory, drop smoke bombs to mark the hideouts, then

They fly low, and can be knocked down more easily than larger, higher-flying planes, thus their mortality rate is high. "Birdogs," the pilots are called. When one is shot down, the Viet Cong tend to be rough. This "Birdog" is Capt. Kinsley Wood of Oneida, N.Y.

Computer Is Viewed As Teaching Aid

BERKELEY, Calif. 279 — Scientists suggested today that computers might do a better job of teaching and diagnosing and treating mental illness than present person-to-person methods. They reported that since infectious disease has been reduced by modern treatment, mental disorder has become the most widespread illness before middle and old age. Dr. K. M. Colby, psychiatrist at the Computation Center of Stanford University, suggested that "the study of man-to-man communications might improve the knowledge of man-to-man communication and its misunderstanding."

"If the computer can be used as an instrument of psychotherapy for thousands of patients in understaffed hospitals," Colby said, "we should use it."

"If it can teach children better than teachers, because each child is enabled to learn at his own rate, then its use is consonant with our values of respecting individual dignity."

"It is dehumanizing to put a child in a class with 40 other children and one teacher. It is dehumanizing to herd thousands of patients into hospitals where they will rarely see a doctor," Colby said.

ABENTS TOO

LONDON 279 — James Bond fans learned today why their hero had missed Wednesday's London premiere of his latest film, "Thunderball" — just as he had missed the opening of his three previous Bond films.

Actor Sean Connery said he preferred to see his films alone because people went to premieres only to "see who's there." More than 1,000 fans waited in vain in the rain Wednesday night after theater officials said Connery would definitely appear.

CASTRO "NO" — Cesar Loreda Garcia (above), captain of a Cuban freighter that carried a cargo to North Viet Nam to November, is in Spain asking for political asylum. Loreda, 31, said all Cuban ships traveling to the Far East have been ordered to take cargoes to North Viet Nam.

TV CAMEOS: Dave Ketchum

He's Not in a Hurry to Be a Star

By BO MISURELL

THE OPTIC world but almost always enticing world of show business is loaded down with aspirants who hope to become stars overnight. Too many of them literally take to heart the corny late movie TV plots in which the understudy replaces on opening night the star with the broken leg, broken arm or broken psyche. Little Miss Nobody finds her name glittering in lights on Broadway as the final scene fades into the screen credits.

Fortunately for show business and themselves, however, some performers, after years of undergoing a number of successes and failures, take a more realistic viewpoint about getting to the summit. Amiable Dave Ketchum, one of the leads in TV's Comp Runamuck, currently seen on Friday nights on NBC, fits into this minute category.

"I'M NOT in a rush to be a big star," said the comedian, who has spent almost a quarter century moving slowly toward that ambition. "I want to get such a great foundation in all phases of this business that when you do get to be a star you are in such a position that you are invulnerable."

Accordingly, Dave has been working diligently at his craft since he was a kid in a San Diego, Calif., high school. He's played in hundreds of USO shows, did Mollers and Shakespeare in college, had his own radio show for a number of years in which he wrote and appeared in skits, sang and danced in musical comedies, played a featured role in a movie, guested on many TV shows, played a running part in one series, and is currently co-starring in his present series.

AT THIS WRITING, Dave is on a promotional tour to key cities across the country. Hence his visit to New York where we spoke with him at NBC headquarters the other day.

"We've completed 26 episodes in Comp Runamuck," he said. "There is an option for eight more. That's what we're sitting out right now—whether or not it will be picked up. Consequently I'm pretty tied up at the moment. The only place I can work until a decision is made is in clubs. Also in the speculative stage is a movie that may be done on the camp."

According to the actor, his entrance into show business was a freak one. "I fell into it," he said with a smile. "I was in high school in 1941 when Red Skelton turned up on the campus at a war bond rally. He pulled up in a jeep, stepped out and promptly fell flat on his face. We all roared."

"A buddy and I went around to the front of the school and began taking falls in imitation of Red. A girl standing nearby asked us whether we would like to do some USO shows. We agreed, and for the next five months she trained us in singing, tap dancing and comedy routines. Not long after we went around doing service programs billed as The Black and Blue Brothers."

Eventually, Dave landed his own show, Ketchum Cops, on KRCR. Meanwhile, he continued his studies. He attended San Diego State for a period but eventually shifted to U.C.L.A., where he majored in math and science. He also found time to appear in a number of college dramatic productions before his graduation in 1950.

A member of the National Guard, Dave was called into service shortly after the Korean War broke out. While in the Army, he appeared in almost a hundred shows.

Among Dave's TV credits are appearances on such TV shows as Malinee Theater, Meet Mike, Sally, The Joy Bishop Show and a regular role on Fm Dickens. . . He's Feaster: His comedy flair in the movie Good Neighbor Sam prompted producer David Swift to give him the role of Spliffy in Camp Runamuck.

Married to folk singer Louise Bryant, Dave and his wife are the parents of a daughter, Nicole, who is almost two. "She is, of course," he said with mock seriousness, "one perfect child!"

There are many who wish that that adjective, along with its application to Nicole, could be applied more frequently to the medium in which her father presently toils.
